SENATE PROGRAM SUBMERGES TARIFF DEBATE

COMMITTEES ARE BUSY ON MANY SUBJECTS

RANGE FROM SHEARER CASE TO INVESTIGATING SEN.
DENEEN

JUDICIARY COMMITTEE CONSIDERS RESOLUTION ON LABOR
INJUNCTIONS

Washington, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—The senate went to work today on a week's program that temporarily at least submerged the tariff debate to second or third place in significance.

Through its committees, the senate turned its attention to a variety of subjects, ranging from the Shearer case to an investigation of Senator Deneen, republican, Illinois, and LaFollette's resolution to investigate a labor injunction.

The house met briefly and immediately recessed for three days, as it will continue to do until October 14, or longer.

Two senate committees met today in addition to the naval affairs subcommittee which is hearing the Shearer case.

The judiciary committee went into executive session to consider charges filed against Senator Deneen, republican, Illinois, which are understood to contend he was closely associated with a Chicago gangster.

The judiciary committee also was to consider the resolution offered by Senator LaFollette, republican, Wis., to authorize an investigation of the injunction issued in Philadelphia recently to prevent clothing workers there from organizing, and a bill introduced by Senator Vandenberg, republican, Michigan, to save the press from "judicial tyranny."

The Vandenberg bill would allow defendants in indirect contempt cases to ask for a transfer of judges.

The finance committee met to consider which financial secrets of corporations seeking increased tariff it wants. The treasury department has reported it cannot furnish all the information previously asked for.

Tomorrow and for the remainder of the week, probably, members of the federal farm board will appear before the senate agriculture committee. Senator Brookhart, who has announced his opposition to some members of the board, has been invited to question them. Chairman Legge will be the first called.

The senate is beginning its sessions this week at 11 o'clock instead of 12 o'clock, in order to speed up consideration of the tariff bill, which has been lagging recently.

BOOTLEG FEUDS OF 'BUSH' CLAIM INNOCENT VICTIM

Madison, Wis., Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Bootleg feuds of "the Bush," Italian section of Madison that adjoins the campus of the University of Wisconsin, had claimed an innocent victim today, a 3-year-old boy.

The lad, Frank Gelosi, was slain last night as he sat on the lap of his father, Joe, a convicted bootlegger and once branded the "worst liquor law violator in the Bush."

The father was seriously wounded by the same charge of shotgun slugs that blazed out of the darkness and pierced the body of the boy. Only the fact that the child was sitting on his father's lap saved the elder Gelosi from death, police said.

The shot, obviously intended for the father, came without warning as the two sat on the front porch of the home in the heart of "the Bush," where most of Madison's murders occur.

EAGLE PICKS UP 8 YEAR BOY AND THEN DROPS HIM

Somerset, Ky., Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—George Meece, 8, of Ruth, near here, was picked up by a bald eagle and carried aloft ten feet before the bird dropped him, it was revealed today.

The boy, weighing about 50 pounds, was playing with four companions on a hillside when the eagle swooped down and fastened its talons in the slack of George's overalls. The shouts of George's friends caused the eagle to drop him, they said.

The boy was rendered unconscious in the fall, but rallied after about 30 minutes. He said the eagle had a wing spread of about 10 feet.

Decreased Shipments Make Northwest Wheat Embargo Not Necessary

St. Paul, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Decreased shipments today made less likely a general northwest wheat embargo, Minnesota grain and railroad men reported here. A special grain transportation committee of the Northwest Shippers' Advisory board was expected to adopt a resolution at a meeting in Minneapolis today calling upon northwest farmers to withhold shipments of grain. Heavy shipments of wheat last week to Duluth and Superior brought predictions of an embargo.

Capital's Speakeasy Masters Are Seeking Cover

HENRY SMITH, AGE 6, UP IN COURT FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Denver, Colo., Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Only six years old, but Henry Smith is just old enough to be haled into court for reckless driving.

Henry "borrowed" an automobile parked near his home, drove it four blocks where he showed inexperience at the wheel and did much damage to a filling station after demanding "some water."

Henry spent the night in a detention home and will appear before Police Magistrate A. T. Ormrod today.

CONCEALED GUN BATTERY RAKES CHINESE SHIP

REVOLUTIONARY FORCES WAGE
ATTACK ON NATIONALIST
TROOP SHIP

ONE CHINESE MESS BOY KILLED
AND 40 SOLDIERS WOUNDED, SAYS REPORT

Shanghai, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—A concealed gun battery of the revolutionary forces of Gen. Fat-Kwei near Itu, 20 miles from Ichang, shelled a nationalist troop ship en route to Ichang from Hankow today, killing a Chinese mess boy and wounding forty soldiers, reports reaching here said.

The reports said the troop ship, presumably carrying troops of General Chang Sei-Shu, who had been dispatched from Nanking to halt the reported advance of General Chang, was struck by seven shells.

The attack on the troop ship was believed to be the first actual firing in China's newest civil war centering about the reorganization group headed by General Chang Fat-Kwei, who is reported to have joined with the Wang faction in a southern revolutionary drive against Canton.

Earlier reports said General Chang's men had disarmed a column of nationalist troops near Itu, commanded by General Chang Sei-Shu. Chang also was reported to be seeking an alliance with the armies of Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang, the "Christian General" who is a bitter opponent of General Chiang Kai-Shek, head of the Nanking government.

3 ARE KILLED IN ACCIDENTS OF WEEK-END

SCORE OF OTHERS WERE INJURED SERIOUSLY IN VARIOUS AUTO MISHAPS

BURTON KUHLES, ST. PAUL BOY,
HURT IN LEAP FROM MOVING
TRAIN IN YARDS

St. Paul, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Three persons were killed in a series of northwest mishaps over the week end and a score of others were injured several seriously.

The dead were: Mrs. Harry Stoker, 25, St. Paul, fatally injured in an automobile crash near Hastings while on her way to Cannon Falls.

Jacob Loecher, 31, Wabasha, killed in an automobile crash near his home. A. B. Carlson, 38, Omaha railway switchman, fatally injured at Hudson when he fell beneath moving boxcars and was crushed.

One of the more seriously injured was Burton Kuhles, 13-year-old St. Paul boy who suffered a compound fracture of the leg when he leaped from a moving train in the yards here. Kuhles was said to have made the leap in an attempt to escape railroad detectives sent out to halt the boy and his companion from playing in the yards.

40 PLEAD GUILTY TO BREAKING LIQUOR LAW

St. Paul, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Forty residents of the northwest today pleaded guilty to law violations before Judge John B. Sanborn in a special term of the federal court here and were given jail sentences from three months to three years and fines which ranged up to $500.

On the docket were 190 cases, the majority of which were for alleged violations of the prohibition laws.

Two of the stiffest penalties meted out were to Raymond St. John, 17, and Joseph McCue, St. Paul, who were sentenced to three years each in federal institutions for violation of the Dyer act, and sale of liquor with a prior conviction, respectively.

2 Youthful Bandits Resorting to Murder and Robbery to Entertain Girls Get Life Sentence

2 CHICAGO BOYS WHO KILLED 2 MEN SPARED FROM CHAIR

IN IMPOSING SENTENCE, JUDGE SAID THEIR YOUTH SAVED
THEM FROM EXECUTION

BOYS CONFESSED THEY HAD TAKEN PART IN 75 ROBBERIES
IN CITY

Chicago, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Two youthful bandits who confessed they resorted to murder and robbery in order to get money with which to entertain their girl friends, must spend the rest of their lives in jail, Judge Otto Kerner ruled today. The youths were Robert Camy, 18, and Earl Nicholson, 20.

The sentences were for the murders of George Schreiner and Leon Raymond, druggists, and for a series of robberies.

In imposing the extremely heavy sentences, Judge Kerner said he was moved to spare the two from the electric chair only by their youth.

Camy and Nicholson were arrested here about two weeks ago and after extensive questioning they admitted the robberies and the murders of the two druggists, all of which occurred last spring.

They said they wanted to show their girl friends a good time and robbery seemed to be the best way to get money for this purpose. They said they had taken part in 75 robberies.

Sixteen persons remained aboard the vessel and are being brought ashore by a breeches buoy. The ship was bound from Canada to Tampa with a cargo of plaster.

London, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—A Lloyd's dispatch from Perth, Australia, said today that the British steamer Anthea had reported it was speeding to the aid of the British steamer Filton Hall, 390 miles southward, enroute to Adelaide from Immingham.

The position of the Anthea was approximately 1,500 miles west of the southwest coast of Australia in the Indian Ocean.

A later dispatch from Melbourne said the crew of the Filton Hall had left the burning steamer in lifeboats at midnight.

COL. LINDBERGH TAKES OFF FOR DUTCH GUIANA

LEAVES PORT OF SPAIN, TRINIDAD, FOR PARAMARIBO, ON SOUTH AMERICAN COAST

WILL COMPLETE SOUTHWARD JOURNEY OF FLIGHT FROM MIAMI TO FORMER CITY

Port of Spain, Trinidad, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—(By Pan-American Radio to Miami, Fla.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off at 7:14 A. M. today for a flight of approximately 550 miles to Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, on the South American coast.

It will complete the southward journey of his flight from Miami to Paramaribo, inaugurating air mail and passenger service along that route.

A second plane carrying J. L. Tripp, president of Pan-American Airways, followed immediately behind Lindbergh.

Both planes circled the city and then headed southward to follow the mainland to Guiana. The weather was clear.

Lindbergh was scheduled to stop at noon at Georgetown, British Guiana, for a few minutes. He hoped to reach Paramaribo about 1:45 P. M.

The colonel, his wife and their party arrived here at 4:52 P. M. EST. yesterday and were greeted by the largest crowd which has assembled in this island for years.

As the giant Sikorsky plane appeared over the mountain range that forms a semi-circle north of the city the crowd broke into cheers which re-echoed from the mountainside. There were thousands of persons along the water front. Every available launch and craft was packed with enthusiasts who had waited for hours to get a glimpse of the aviation hero of the age, and of his wife.

The Lindbergh plane is expected back here tomorrow. On Wednesday Lindbergh and his party will strike out northward from here, for their return trip to Miami, a total flight of 7,000 miles in which Lindbergh will have laid out a new airmail trail from Miami to the Caribbean islands and the mainland of South America. The return also will be made in easy stages, by way of Mexico and Cuba.

After the honeymoon the couple will live in a four and a half room apartment in Westville, a suburb of New Haven, and spend the first year trying to find some place to put, the $10,000 worth of wedding presents.

TODAY FLORENCE TRUMBULL BECOMES MRS. JOHN COOLIDGE

PROMISES TO "LOVE, COMFORT AND HONOR" HER HUSBAND

MARRIAGE CEREMONY TOOK PLACE AT 4 P. M.
TODAY

By BOYD LEWIS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Plainville, Conn., Sept. 23.—At 4 P. M. today Florence Trumbull becomes Mrs. John Coolidge, promising to "love, comfort and honor" her husband, but not to obey him.

Shortly after sunrise people began flying, walking, riding trains and motoring along the roads to Plainville to see the son and daughter of two of New England's most distinguished families united in marriage. Former President Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge, parents of the bridegroom, arrived by motor from Northampton.

Of the hundreds who gathered here, about 82 received permission to file into the First Congregational church for the ceremony. It is such a wedding as Miss Trumbull chose, for she could have been married in the White House. The service will be simple and conventional; once more a bride will pace the aisles to the Lohengrin wedding march and before it is over the orchestra will play "Oh, Promise Me."

Three detectives walked the halls of the Trumbull mansion today for there are $10,000 worth of wedding presents there, filling two rooms and spilling into another one. Most of the guests are relatives of the Coolidge and Trumbull families, and they are ready to help the 400 guests who have been invited to a reception in a large tent pitched on the Trumbull lawn.

John fidgeted today, nervously seeking the aid and comfort of Stephen Brown of Northampton, Mass., who was his roommate at Amherst and who is his best man. As the young couple attended church yesterday, it was apparent that Miss Trumbull was the usual radiant bride, unworried by the prospect of walking down a church aisle in a white dress. She even broke through the elaborate plans which were made to keep reporters away from her when she admitted on the sidewalk in front of the church that she preferred to "be married among her own people" rather than in the White House.

Where the honeymoon will be is conjectural. It was generally believed a motor trip would be taken—probably in Miss Trumbull's roadster—but plans were carefully guarded. Coolidge has obtained a two-week leave from the New Haven railroad office where he is a clerk.

Miss Trumbull will be attended in the seven and a half minute service by her younger sister, Jean, and four bridesmaids, including Esther Trumbull, a cousin.

After the honeymoon the couple will live in a four and a half room apartment in Westville, a suburb of New Haven, and spend the first year trying to find some place to put, the $10,000 worth of wedding presents.

PLANE CRASHES TAKE FIVE LIVES IN MIDDLE WEST

Chicago, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Airplane crashes took five lives in the middle west over the week end.

Charles Folsom, 20, and Seth Bausgh, 15, were killed near Anderson, Ind., yesterday when their plane went into a tailspin and crashed from 200 feet. Folsom was at the controls. He had been flying only a few months.

Lieut. Mark H. Redmon was killed near Fairfield, O., when his plane got out of control shortly after the takeoff and fell 300 feet.

Fred Center, 24, licensed pilot, and Lester D. Baker, student, were killed when the plane in which they were riding crashed near Topeka, Kan. Baker apparently became excited and pulled the stick the wrong way. The plane burst into flames and both were burned.

3 BACKWOODS SETTLEMENTS ARE FACING FLAMES

HIGH WINDS IN NORTHERN MINNESOTA
ROAR OVER 60,000
ACRES TIMBER LAND

REGION SMOLDERED WITH PEAT
AND BRUSH FIRES THE PAST FORTNIGHT

Duluth, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Three backwoods settlements in northern Minnesota were threatened with destruction today when high winds fanned into roaring walls of flames 60,000 acres of timber lands which had smoldered with peat and brush fires during the past fortnight.

Scores of rangers and volunteers battled fires on the outskirts of three villages, Warroad, Strathcona and Pine Ridge, while 50 men fought a 20,000-acre blaze in Lake of the Woods county on the Canadian border line. The Lake of the Woods blaze was sweeping over a 25-mile front, driving dozens of timber line families from their homes.

No reports of deaths were received from the danger zone although a heavy smoke blanket made fire fighting hazardous and prevented lookouts from locating the more serious blazes. Fears that inexperienced volunteers might become lost in the smoke and wander into the path of the fires were expressed by veteran rangers.

Settlers of the threatened districts prayed for a continued south wind rather than a shift that would send the flames hurtling either east or west into valuable and heavily settled farm territory. Only an uninhabited wilderness lies to the north of several of the fires.

Forestry department superintendents issued a call for all available volunteers to answer calls for help from the most desperate districts.

PAUL KVALE AS SUCCESSOR TO HIS FATHER

SON OF LATE CONGRESSMAN
SEEMS ASSURED OF PARTY
ENDORSEMENT

SENATOR VICTOR LAWSON SAYS THAT "THE DISTRICT IS ALL KVALE"

Willmar, Minn., Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—A clear path to the endorsement of the farmer-labor party lay before Paul J. Kvale today after State Senator Victor Lawson announced he would not seek the seventh Minnesota congressional seat left vacant by the death of Rep. O. J. Kvale.

Lawson, looked upon as leader and spokesman of the farmer-labor group in this section, decided not to oppose the secretary-son of the congressman, who perished nearly two weeks ago in a fire near Fergus Falls, after he sounded out other leaders and announced:

"The district is all Kvale." It virtually was almost certain, therefore, that when the third party meets in conference at Montevideo on Wednesday Paul Kvale will be unanimously endorsed for the post.

The withdrawal of Lawson, prominently mentioned as a candidate, left the son of the late congressman virtually alone in the field with the republican candidates, since no democrat was expected to file his name.

Two G. O. P. candidates only have thus far indicated they would seek nomination in the special primary election Oct. 9, J. C. Morrison, Morris editor, and Lawrence M. Carlson of Renville.

A. J. Olson, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, and State Rep. Otto C. Neuman of Whetstone also have been mentioned as possible candidates.

FEAR CITY MAY BE MADE MODEL IN DRY PHASE

PRESIDENT HOOVER DECLARES
WASHINGTON, D. C., SHOULD SHOW THE WAY

COMES IN REPLY TO CHARGES
OF SEN. HOWELL THAT BOOT-
LEGGING THRIVES

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 23.—The capital's speak-easy masters took to the cyclone cellar today to watch through the periscope for the first move of Washington officials to make the city a model for the country in the matter of prohibition enforcement.

President Hoover's declaration that Washington should show the way was in answer to charges by Senator Howell, republican, that bootlegging thrived in the shadow of the capital.

Howell's challenge to the president to clean up the capital by vigorous application of his appointive power and the White House answer were quickly followed by a demand from Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, that the government appropriate more money for dry law work and fight rum runners with machine guns and riot rifles.

Wilson, who recently advocated calling out the marines to enforce prohibition, contended the government has not sufficient men to enforce the law, that it is too timid to use machine guns and riot guns, that its boats are too slow to cope with liquor smuggling craft and that airplanes to stop border activities must be provided.

"The president is glad the senator has raised the question," said the White House statement, issued within 24 hours of Howell's charges.

The Nebraskaan suggested the chief executive call in a group of secret service operatives and launch them upon an intensive investigation of the capital's centers of gaiety and night life. The president, however, apparently has no intention of thus involving the White House directly in the execution of the model-city program. "It is only fair," said the White House statement, "to give the district officials an opportunity to meet such charges."

"Senator Howell's statement that the prohibition law is not being enforced in the District of Columbia," the White House asserted, "seriously impugns the good faith and capacity of Commissioner Dougherty, in charge of police, Superintendent of Police Pratt, District Attorney Rover and Prohibition Agent William Blandford."

"The president is glad the senator has raised the question. He is confident that the senator would not make these charges unless they were based upon definite facts, with time and place; and if he will lay such information before the department of justice, the president will have the matters vigorously investigated, for it is the intention not only to secure the fullest enforcement in the most possible manner under the organization of enforcement agencies as provided by law, but to make it a model in the country."

Howell declared, after publication of the White House statement, he had no specific charges against any district official. His remarks on enforcement were a mere digression in his tariff debate, he explained. It was not his intention to criticize the president.

Linked with Howell's charges against the district officials, was the declaration that every ounce of diplomatic liquor which enters the capital under the "gentleman's agreement" between the state department and the ambassadors and ministers of foreign powers, comes into the country in flagrant violation of the law.

Wants Absolute Parity in British and U. S. Naval Armament

Washington, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Declaring the reports of a naval agreement between Great Britain and the United States indicate Great Britain is to sink no cruisers but this country is to halt her building program, Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, told the senate today he will vote for no agreement unless it insures absolute parity.

Diamond Salesman Robbed of $60,000 Worth of Gems

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—J. J. Lowenstein, a salesman for Rothstein Brothers, Seattle diamond brokers, was held up and robbed of diamonds valued at $60,000 today, he reported to police. The salesman said he was able to identify one of the bandits said to be a well known prize fighter.

Days of Tranquillity

Halcyon days is a name given by the ancients to the seven days which follow the shortest day of the year. The reference is to a fable that during this time, while the halcyon bird, or kingfisher, was breeding, there always prevailed calms at sea. From this the phrase, halcyon days, has come to signify times of peace and tranquillity.

Traffic Follows Paved Roads

THAT traffic follows the paved roads, and that there are several hundred miles of unpaved roads which need paving, are two conclusions which may be drawn from the traffic census taken last month by the Minnesota Highway department. A summary of the census was received by The Brainerd Dispatch recently from Commissioner C. M. Babcock, and covers the period from August 5 to 11, inclusive.

Traffic counts were made at 62 points on the paved trunk routes. The average number of vehicles per day on the paved routes were 2,492, as compared with 752 on the unpaved routes.

There were only three points on pavements where less than 1,000 cars per day were counted, all three of these being at places where there is a short stretch of pavement on a gravel road. There were 10 points where 1,000 to 1,500 cars were counted, 14 with 1,500 to 2,000 vehicles per day, 19 with 2,000 to 3,000 vehicles per day, 8 with 3,000 to 4,000 cars per day, 5 with 4,000 to 5,000 cars per day, and 3 points with counts averaging above 5,000 per day.

Among the 310 stations on unpaved roads, there were 67 points where traffic averaged above 1,000 cars per day. Thirty-five of these showed counts between 1,000 and 1,200, 15 with counts of 1,200 to 1,500 per day, 9 with counts of 1,500 to 2,000 per day, 7 with counts of 2,000, to 3,000, one with a count of 6,621. The last named was on T. H. No. 12, west of Hopkins.

Trunk Highway No. 2, the route from Duluth to Fargo, recorded various degrees of traffic density. Between Carlton and Cromwell, the cars numbered 1,019. Between McGregor and Aitkin, 672; Aitkin and Deerwood 730; Deerwood and Crosby 1,581; Crosby and Brainerd 671; Brainerd and Motley 985; Staples and Wadena 1,073; Frazee and Detroit Lakes 1,198; Detroit Lakes and Hawley 1,754; Hawley and Moorhead 3,598.

Following No. 18 which skirts Mille Lacs west shore we find differences in traffic. Between Elk River and Zimmerman 1,048 cars; Zimmerman and Princeton 1,167; Princeton and Milaca, south fork, 857; Princeton and Milaca, west fork, 1,117; Milaca and Onamia 880; Anamia and Garrison 886; Garrison and Brainerd 819.

On No. 19, which extends from Brainerd northward and taps a large lake region, the travel was very heavy. Between Brainerd and Nisswa 2,109; Nisswa and Pine River 995; Hackensack and Walker 545; Walker and Benedict 662; Benedict and Cass Lake 334.

No. 27, which runs southward to Little Falls and is all cement, carried between Little Falls and Royalton 1,886; between Barrows and Brainerd 1,577.

Nicaraguan Ship Canal

UNCLE SAM, according to news reports, is preparing to push another ship canal, this time across Nicaragua. The venture will cost $250,000,000 and will supplement the Panama Canal.

The naive statement is made that the new canal is not to compete with the Panama, but to supplement it as a mighty trade route. The belief is expressed that it will prove a profitable venture because the Panama just now is paying a seven and a half per cent profit.

New York writers fail to say who is paying for this profit. The Nicaraguan canal, if built, will like the Panama canal, benefit the east and west coast and some territory a distance from tidewater.

The Great Middle West is paying for this and so are the railroads of this area. Not content with overloading us with freight charges and preventing the railroads from meeting Panama canal opposition, we are to have another canal thrust upon us and promised completion before we see a spade of earth turned for the St. Lawrence waterway.

No country can be said to prosper when the prosperity hits coast lines and considerable territory near the seaboard while the Middle West is relegated to the status of a mere province that gets doled out a few crumbs.

If you want the Middle West to grow excited about shipping, give us some rivers and a St. Lawrence waterway to carry the boats. Give the Middle West an even break with the coast.

Perils of Home Life

EVERY man has believed himself safe at home. A nation of home owners, be they peasants on Russian steppes or cottage owners in America, will fight for the defense of their homes.

Home has always appeared as a refuge, for a home is a man's castle, generally safe from intrusion.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance company however, comes out with a flood of statistics showing that stairs, open windows, slippery floors, chairs and beds make the average home one of the most dangerous of places, so far as fatal falls are concerned.

A great percentage of women, practically two-thirds of those who died from falls, met their fate in the home, while falls at home accounted for the death of one-third of the men dying from accidental falls. Compared with this the pedestrian use of the streets was responsible for only 8.3 per cent the total of fatal falls for males and of 7.6 per cent for females, while falls in sports and recreation claimed only 1.6 per cent of the total of males and three-tenths of one per cent among females.

The insurance company's statistics were gathered from among its 19,000,000 industrial policyholders for a three year period extending from 1926 to 1928.

Business Review is Encouraging

ALTHOUGH late crops in the northwest states deteriorate, the prospect of volume of business and income for the last one-half of 1929 will be, at least, equal to that of the last one-half of 1928. According to the September monthly review of the Northwest Bancorporation, Minneapolis, South Dakota's corn crop was lower considerably but production may still come up to last year. Minnesota's corn crop will be bigger than 1928. Iowa's corn estimated at 422,379,000 bushels is a little greater than the ten year average. Nebraska has a good corn crop although somewhat cut by dry weather in August.

Flaxseed in Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana promised 15,788,000 bushels as compared with 18,709,000 bushels in 1928.

Wisconsin will raise about 23,142,000 bushels potatoes, and Minnesota 24,863,000 bushels, the totals being considerably under last year. A very gratifying change in the price situation is noted as compared with a year ago when over-production in the whole country had a very depressing effect.

The business outlook on the whole throughout the entire northwestern group of states as reflected in new building, bank clearing and other indications is said to be very favorable.

CONQUERS THE AIR, SHUNS THE "MIKE"

Although Henry J. Brown crossed the cloud-covered Colorado Rockies by night, at a speed not previously accomplished, when he set the new non-stop record from Los Angeles to Cleveland in winning the National Air Race $10,000 non-stop event, Brown was too modest a hero to face, without misgivings, the microphone that carried his voice to hundreds of thousands of people, when he was called upon to acknowledge the vociferous welcome that greeted him when he landed at Cleveland just 13 hours, 15 minutes and 7 seconds out of Los Angeles. He is shown in the above picture at the judges' stand at the National Air Races, Cleveland Municipal Airport, just after he made his record breaking flight in the flagship of the "Sky Fleet" of the General Tire and Rubber company.

A New Door needed on the Back Porch

The Back Door looks a little neglected, doesn't it? For one thing, the screening has rusted and fallen away in spots. Doesn't keep the flies out. And the delivery boys and the ice man have soiled the woodwork. It does look mussed. It isn't much of a job to put in new netting and to paint the main door and the frame of the other. Let's get busy. What do you say?

Friends you can trust

Advertised products are your friends wherever you find them. You know them. And you can buy them with confidence—sure of honest value for your money. For they have stood the test of public scrutiny, they have been advertised and found worthy.

For advertising, after all, is a test—a trial by the fire of public approval. Today no manufacturer would start advertising his products unless he knew they were sound and good. And if errors did creep in, he would be quick to correct them, for to hold business he must uphold the confidence advertising has created among millions of people for his wares.

Advertising brings protection to the consumer. It guarantees honest value. It sends quality up. The manufacturer who advertises builds up such a volume of sales that he gives far more in both quality and quantity than the non-advertiser can possibly do.

Seek out your friends—the advertised products. Favor the dealer who handles them. Look for them on the shelves. Watch for them in the show windows. They are the hallmarks of a good business house. They are negotiable guarantees of value. They are friends you can trust.

PACIFIC COAST FOOTBALL WILL DRAW LARGEST CROWDS

3 CONFERENCE TEAMS SAW ACTION SATURDAY

STANFORD SMOTHERS WEST COAST ARMY TEAM 45 TO 0

DISPLAYING A FREAKY DOUBLE PASS, CARDINALS FOOLED ARMY MEN

By GEORGE D. CRISSEY, (United Press Staff Correspondent)
San Francisco, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Record breaking performances, drawing the greatest crowds in the history of Pacific coast football, seem in prospect in the far west this season.

After the kick-off of the 1929 season, over the week end, the general opinion of fans was that the best of previous years would do well to equal the average in Pacific conference football this year.

Three conference teams saw action Saturday. Stanford demonstrated just how dangerous a Cardinal team may be by smothering the west coast Army team 45 to 0—and it was not a weak Army team that took the field against the red skirts.

Displaying a freaky double pass, the Cardinals experienced no difficulty in fooling the Army men. The double pass registered for yardage and touchdowns, time after time.

That form of passing, combined with the power attack of Stanford indicated that the Cardinals have the best team it has put on the field in years.

Oregon State played Willamette, of the northwest conference, at Corvallis and won 37 to 6. While Montana, admittedly one of the weaker coast conference teams, played the Andes, an independent Anaconda team, winning 18 to 2.

Other coast conference teams did not play, although the leading teams, including Washington, Oregon, California and University of Southern California had scouts at the Stanford-West Coast Army game.

That far western crowds at football games will be something to talk about was evidenced by the fact that almost 15,000 saw the Stanford-West Coast Army game Saturday.

Great teams, being fairly even, with interest at a fever pitch, looms ahead for Pacific conference football. Crowds of at least 85,000 are expected at several of the major games during the season.

Yesterday's Hero—Jack Hendricks, for six successive years the manager of the Cincinnati Reds, who finally boosted his disappointing ball club into a tie for sixth place in the National league by virtue of Sunday's 3 to 2 victory over the Phillies and promptly resigned his job.

P. S. Nobody else has the job, as yet.

With Rogers Hornsby seeking his 35th homer of the season, and Kiki Cuyler stealing his 40th base, the pennant winning Cubs made seven safeties good for an early lead Sunday, but the New York Giants came from behind to win a listless contest, 5 to 4.

The Brooklyn Robins divided a double header with the St. Louis Cardinals, winning the first game, 7 to 2, and submitting to a shut-out at the hands of the rookie Grabowski, in the night cap, 4 to 0.

In a game which all but resulted in frostbite for players and spectators alike, the Cleveland Indians defeated the lowly Boston Red Sox, 7 to 4, taking ten innings to turn the trick.

A Detroit Tiger rookie named Hogsett, shut out the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 0. Sam Gray, quite a pitcher in the majors was the victim.

The New York Yankees and the Chicago White Sox divided a double header. Urban Fisher won the opener for the Sox, 7 to 4, but Roy Sherid, a recent acquisition, beat the Chi outfit, 3 to 1, in the night cap.

LATTER MAY PROVE STUMBLING BLOCK TO MASTRO

MAN WHO CAN THROW MOST GLOVES MAY WIN THE BOUT

TO BE NO-DECISION AFFAIR, WITH NEWSPAPERS RENDERING VERDICT

By BERT DEMBY,

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Young Earl Mastro, who throws more gloves than any 126 pounder the middleweight has seen in years, tonight will attempt to step up another rung on the ladder which he hopes will carry him to the featherweight championship.

He will meet the rough, tough Santiago Zorilla, who rather than being a stepping stone for the game little Chicagoan, proposes to be a stumbling block.

Just how Mastro will fare is a problem. Zorilla, a great little boxer, has won from such men as Ignacio Fernandez, Bud Taylor and Joey Sangor, and Mastro certainly has not picked out a "setup."

The fight promises to be an affair in which the man who can throw the most gloves the faster will win. There is no denying that each of the contestants is fast.

Tonight's fight will be the first since the "decision law" became effective in Wisconsin but it too will be a no-decision affair, with the newspapers rendering the verdict.

The state boxing commission recently decided that after October 1, decisions will be in the hands of the referee.

The commission also ruled that "if after a trial" the referee decision proves unpopular, it will be supplanted by a referee and two judges decision plan.

Mastro ruled a slight favorite today. There was an inclination to believe that Zorilla "is not the fighter he used to be" and for that reason it was possible to get odds of 8-5 on the little Chicagoan.

MILLER HUGGINS CRITICALLY ILL

MANAGER OF NEW YORK YANKEES SUFFERING FROM INFLUENZA

New York, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees, is critically ill.

Huggins was suffering from influenza when he entered St. Vincent's hospital last Friday, but since then his condition has been complicated by a severe face infection which has induced high temperatures.

Dr. Edward King, consulting physician of the American league club, spent several hours yesterday with Huggins and club officials announced the manager's condition was slightly improved last evening.

Huggins has been ailing for some time but wanted to begin building the Yankees for a new drive at the world championship they are relinquishing this year. Recent cold weather, however, proved too much for him and the managerial duties were turned over to Art Fletcher and Charlie O'Leary.

New York, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Miller Huggins, the man who converted the New York Yankees into one of the greatest baseball machines of all times, was reported near death today.

Erysipelas of the face was given as the technical reason but in New York the fans knew he likewise was fighting against a broken heart, despite the masked smile he wore as his great machine faltered at the end of this year's pennant race.

Huggins was taken to St. Vincent's hospital Friday. His temperature today was exceedingly high. Blood transfusions were performed this morning. Ed Barrow the business manager of the Yankees announced. The Rev. J. D. Pries pastor of a Methodist church where Huggins often attended service, was called to the bedside at 12:10 P. M.

Despite the fact that "Lefty" Grove and Earnie Earnshaw were in the box for Philadelphia, the Washington Senators beat the new American league champions in ten innings, 7 to 6.

NEW PLAN ADOPTED FOR TOURNAMENTS IN 11TH DISTRICT

TWO SUB-DISTRICT TOURNAMENTS TO BE HELD AT CROSBY, STAPLES

SEMI-FINALISTS IN EACH ARE TO MEET IN CHAMPIONSHIP TOURNAMENT HERE

The annual meeting of the 11th High School Athletic District met at the Chamber of Commerce rooms last Saturday morning with all of the 16 towns in the district represented by their superintendents except New York Mills.

The session continued most of the day as in addition to the election of officers for the year, the details for the entire athletic program for the year had to be settled.

The following officers were elected as district committee for the year: W. C. Cobb, Brainerd, chairman. F. E. Lurton, Aitkin, secretary and treasurer.

Earl Van Dusen, Little Falls, third committeeman. Superintendent Perry Atwood of Staples was elected district delegate to attend the annual athletic council meeting in St. Paul in April.

On account of the large number of towns included in the 11th district, which arrangement is only temporary until the state council can work out a more satisfactory geographical arrangement, it was impractical to attempt to hold one final tournament to include the 16 high schools, as has been the custom in the past.

The state organization does not approve of a 16-team tournament where the same can be avoided. After lengthy discussion of the following plan for determining the district basketball championship was decided upon:

Two sub-district tournaments consisting of eight teams in each will simultaneously hold tournaments on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of the first week in March, one sub-district meet being held at Crosby and the other at Staples.

The two teams from each sub-district that are not eliminated at these tournaments, one at Crosby and the

KANSAS CITY BLUES, AMERICAN ASSOCIATION CHAMPS

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Dutch Zwilling's Kansas City Blues were American association champions today, following their 5 to 2 victory over Indianapolis yesterday, in the second game of a double header. The one hundred and seventh win of the season and the pennant came after a dreary 13 to 1 defeat in the opener.

"Fea Ridge Day" caused through the important nine innings, allowing the Braves only eight hits which they stretched out for runs in the fifth and sixth. The Blues reached Wolfe and Speece for ten hits.

Not since 1923 has the pennant come to Kansas City. The Blues will face Rochester of the International league in the little world series which starts here October 2.

other at Staples, will attend the final tournament to be held in Brainerd on Friday and Saturday nights of the same week.

The two officials that act in the sub-district tournaments will both come to Brainerd to officiate at the final tournament and by motion at the annual meeting these officials are required to be outside officials who have not acted in an official capacity within the district prior to the date of the tournament.

The eight teams selected for the sub-district with Crosby as the center are the following: Aitkin, Crosby, Ironton, Riverton, Little Falls, Brainerd, Pequot, Pine River.

The eight teams with Staples as sub-district center will be Staples, Wadena, Pillager, Motley, Verndale, Sebeka, New York Mills and Menasha.

The same district organization that handles the athletics contests will also direct the management of the contest in debating and declamatory.

At the close of the regular business meeting coaches and superintendents proceeded to arrange their basketball schedules by mutual bargaining rather than drawing by lot as has been done for several years. The Brainerd schedule was practically completed and in addition to containing two games with all the larger towns in the district, games have already been scheduled with St. Cloud and Bemidji from outside the district.

BOWLERS OF CITY TO FORM SEASON LEAGUES

WILL MEET AT BLOCK ALLEYS WEDNESDAY EVENING OF THIS WEEK

TO FORM A STRAIGHT AWAY AND A HANDICAP LEAGUE

The bowlers of the city are to have a meeting at the alleys next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of organizing leagues for the coming season.

There is to be a straight away and a handicap league. Five teams are ready for the straight away league and more for the handicap.

Twenty sets of new pins are now in the alleys for league play. Good scores are being made daily in practice and a season of good bowling is assured.

A prize of five dollars is to be given to the bowler getting the high three-game total for the week ending next Sunday.

BIG TEN GRID TEAMS POINT TO FIRST GAMES

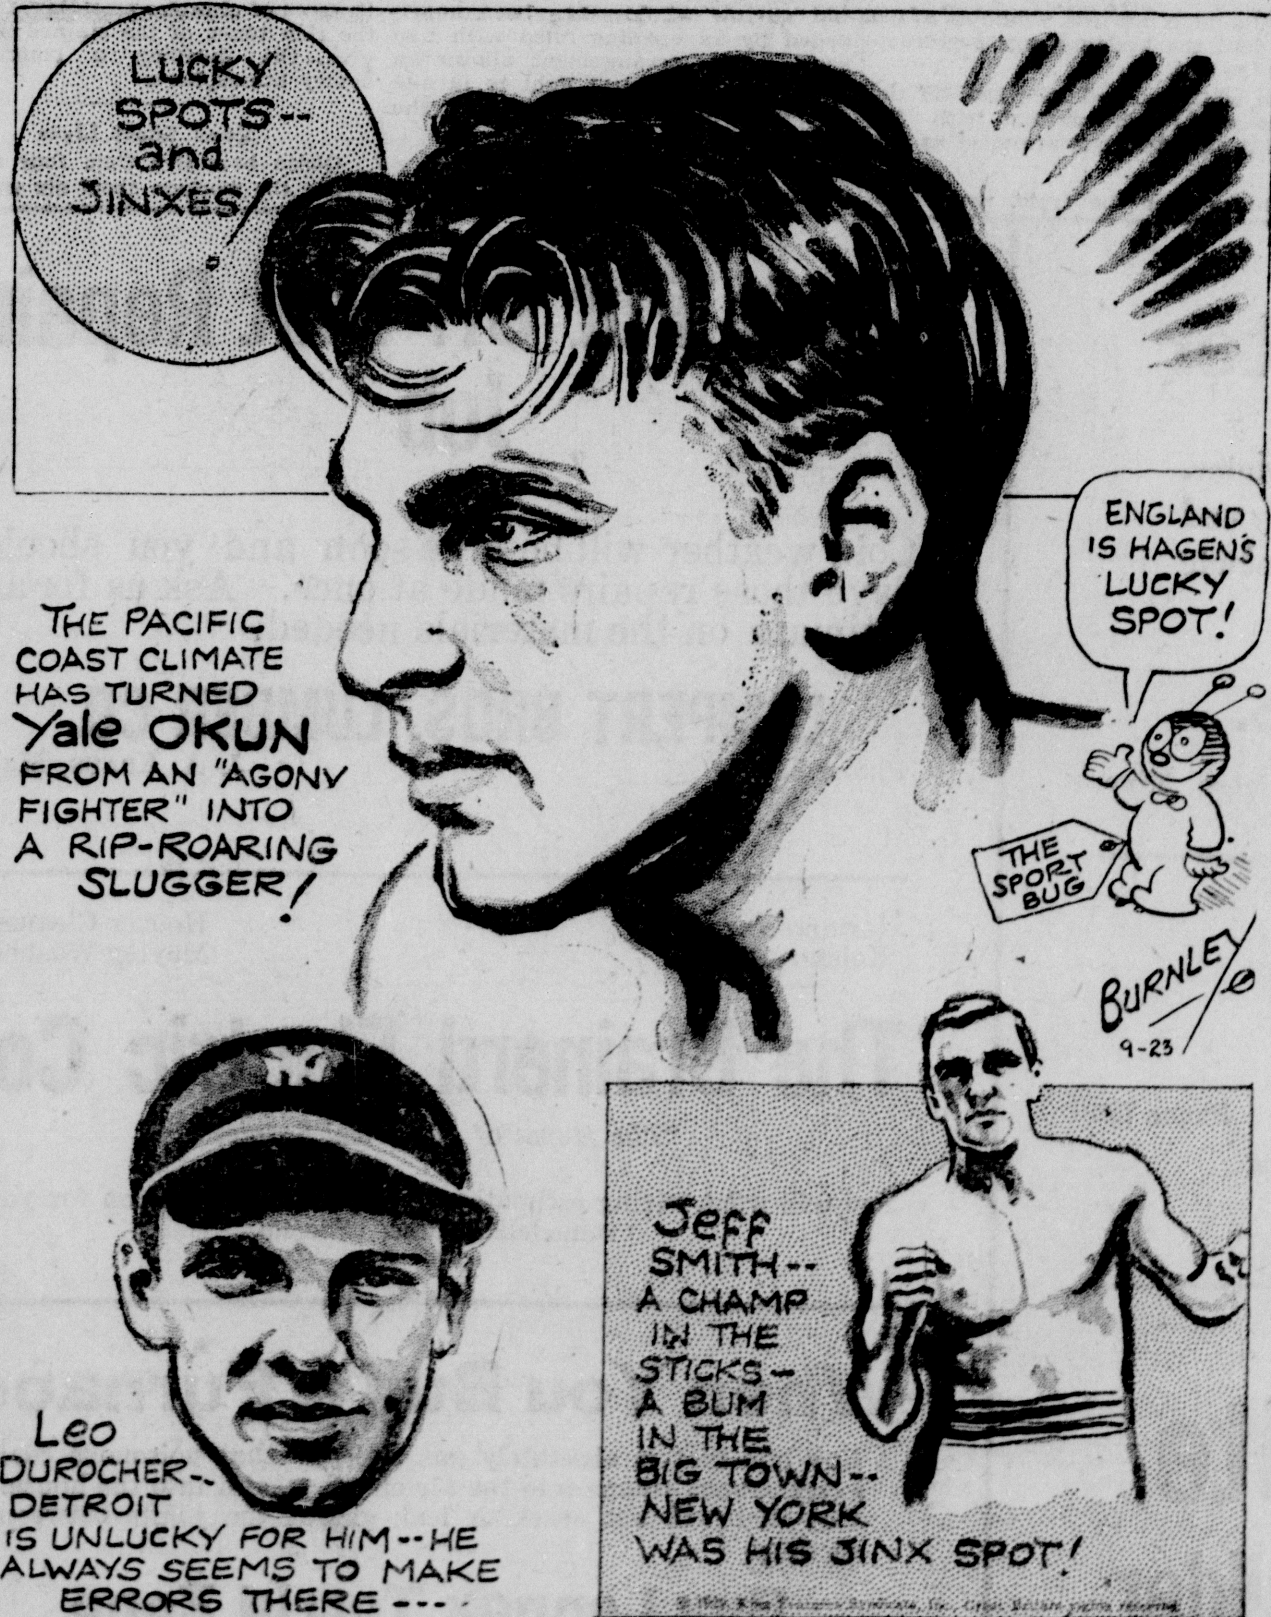

Chicago, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Big Ten football teams, with preliminary practice out of the way, today began the serious work of pointing for their initial games.

While only four of the conference teams are scheduled to get into action next Saturday (all of the four against minor opponents) there was a distinct attitude of "win the first game" in the various camps. Two of the teams will even their fall programs with twin bills.

Michigan will send two squads against Mount Union and Albion college, Indiana teams meet Wabasha and Ohio university, Wisconsin clashes with South Dakota State, and Iowa bucks up against Carroll college.

Sport Curiosities

By HARDIN BURNLEY

FANCY has it that geography has considerable to do with the luck of many an athlete. In certain regions a boxer or a ball player goes big; in others, he's a fearful bust—a classic specimen of which was Jeff Smith, a great middleweight for years. He outclassed all sorts of talent on his lengthy tours, but failed miserably whenever given a New York chance.

Others besides Jeff Smith have found Gotham to be a jinx. Young Stribling, who looks like a world's champ elsewhere, seemed the typical dub in all his New York bouts; nor did he look much better against Jack Sharkey at Miami last Winter. Perhaps it's chronic big town stage fright in Strib's case.

On the other hand, durable Pete Hartley, a great lightweight of a decade ago, might have been king of his class if he could have fought all his important bouts in New Orleans. Hartley elicited off twenty straight victories there when in his prime.

Yale Okun, with an indifferent record in his home town, New York City, made a big hit on the Pacific Coast during the Summer where he seems, at last, to have developed a K. O. punch.

Leo Durocher, peppy Yankee infielder, finds Detroit is his diamond jinx. He seems more liable to err and to collect "collars" (no hits) at Navin Field than elsewhere.

Of course, this entire page could be filled with what famous ball players and fighters consider their jinx and lucky towns. "Mere fancies!" you may snort. Ah, but of such is constituted the imagination which (even Napoleon conceded) rules the world!

Modernization Brings Back Run Down Neighborhoods

OLDER SECTIONS OF THE CITY NOW REJUVENATED

Building Values Increase With Progress

One of the significant aspects of the Home Modernization Movement is the cumulative effect of the effort. The modernizing of one home in an old neighborhood becomes a starting point from which startling ramifications result.

The older residential sections of the city are filled with homes that were up-to-date back in the days of the World's Fair. The frames of these houses are sturdily constructed and the workmanship that entered into the residence is excellent.

But they are hopelessly behind the times in many respects. Their exteriors are usually depressing, being bare, ugly and stolid. The interior appointments are fully in keeping with the exterior. Old fashioned electric light fixtures, obsolete plumbing, ill-arranged rooms and bare, cramped stairs give a hint of the general state of most of these homes.

Valuable Property, Yet Hard to Sell

These houses are valuable and could be duplicated only at the expenditure of many thousands of dollars. The houses are too well constructed to be summarily discarded. Yet their general condition is such that they are hard to sell. On a slow market it is often impossible to get a price near their true worth.

Real estate agents report that many well constructed but old fashioned houses in run-down neighborhoods are sold for the value of the lot on which the house stands.

Modernization will help these old houses. A small amount of money placed in improving the exterior lines of the buildings will increase immeasurably their values. Modernizing the interior of the dwelling not only aids in increasing the comforts of living but makes the old place an attractive looking home.

Modernized Homes Admired

A newly modernized home in a run-down neighborhood stands out from its neighbors. It becomes the subject of favorable comment, of admiration. Other home owners in the neighborhood aspire to place their homes in a similar class and soon a distinct elevation in tone is apparent.

Such a small matter as improving the lawns (one phase of modernizing) with well-trimmed grass, shrubbery and flowers had far reaching effects on the neighbors.

Money Well Invested

Considering the matter from a more selfish standpoint—that of dollars and cents—the act of modernizing a home immediately increases its market value. Two thousand dollars used to modernize a $6,000 house causes its value to become, not $8,000 but $9,000 or $10,000. Figures in excess of these have been reported.

Ordinarily the cash value of the property increases 10 per cent to 15, per cent above the original value plus the modernizing expense. It is evident from this that modernizing is a safe investment.

TWO CAR GARAGE HAS MANY ADVANTAGES

Are you housing your car in well constructed garage? Few car owners realize the part the garage plays in prolonging the life and serviceability of the car. A good garage will pay for itself in a few years by lessening depreciation and by protecting the car from the elements.

A two or three car garage is the logical size to build, even if you have but one car. Often storage space is needed for a second car. A two-car garage increases the value of your property. It can be built for only slightly more than the cost of a one-car structure.

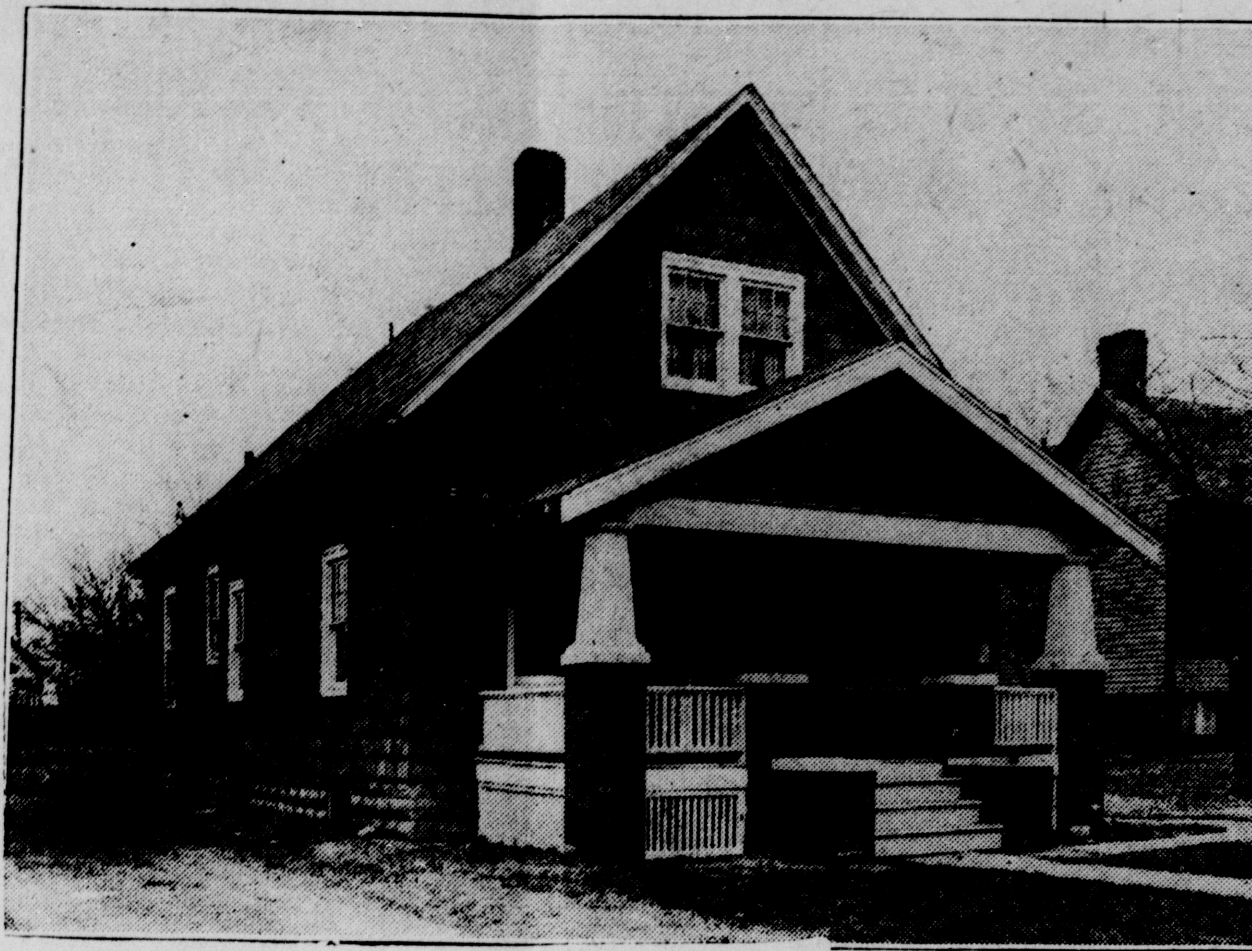

Closets Always Useful

When modernizing the home and remodeling the interior look over the plans to see if it is possible to provide another closet. Closet space is particularly desirable from the housewife's standpoint, and it is always safe to add another one if the space is available.

FOUR WALLS AND ROOF NOW ATTRACTIVE HOME

SHINGLE-CLAD COTTAGE COMES WITH MODERNIZATION

When the cottage in the illustration was first built a good many years ago, it was considered to be one of the most attractive residences on the street.

And the owners had taken pains to make its surroundings as pleasant as possible. The two wooden flower boxes on the front porch attest to this statement.

House Grows Old

And yet as time passed the appearance of the house came in sharp contrast to the cottages that were later constructed in the neighborhood. The shelf-like porch with its flattened roof and round wooden pillars was like a thousand others. The house itself was a plain box with a pitch roof. The windows lacked character and individuality. Decorative appeal had been lost when an uninspired carpenter set in place the plain, narrow sash. A study of the house as it appeared after being touched by modernization shows that the greatest changes were made in the porch, and the windows and trim. As a matter of fact, these are entirely new.

A New Porch Adds Character

Instead of a narrow porch across the front, a square porch with an entablature of wood with a steeply pitched roof and a shingled gable was constructed. The pillars at each outside corner were made of brick one-half of the height, the balance being white painted wood. The architrave is also painted white, giving the whole an effective appearance.

The narrow single windows are gone. In their stead are new sash and trim wider and not so high. Today the high narrow windows are a sign that the building was constructed years ago.

The white painted trim sets off the windows through contrast with the stained shingles that are used as siding.

Upstairs over the front porch the

Stepping Stones Make Very Artistic Walks

A touch of the artistic may be introduced into the walk in the back lawn by using stepping stones instead of the more formal concrete walks. Such walks are usually curved across the lawn and add a charming touch to the vista of lawn and shrubbery.

Stepping stones are inexpensive. They may be purchased already cut to shape or may be made by your contractor. These stones are irregular in design and may be colored with mineral pigments. Often the stones are left white, thus making a sharp contrast to the green of the lawn.

A common way to place such stones is to place them in the desired position on the lawn, cut around the edge of each stone with a sharp pointed knife or trowel, lift out the sod and remove sufficient dirt to allow the stone to set in place with a half inch clearance above the level of the lawn. After the stone has been tamped into place, fill in around the edges with loam.

Grass seed should be immediately sown so that in time the stones will be entirely surrounded by lawn.

Comparatively Recent

It is interesting to note that before 1886 there were no electric motors, dynamos or incandescent lights; no phonographs, kodaks, telephones, typewriters, air brakes, internal combustion engines, fountain pens, safety razors, rotary printing presses, reinforced concrete, fuel oil, adding machines or package foods.

Think It Over

Trials, temptations, disappointments all these are helps instead of hindrances, if one uses them rightly.

Mental Carelessness Sin

Mental carelessness must take its place among the sins which men struggle against, and for which they repent. —Phillips Brooks.

old narrow window has been superceded by an opening filled with two the rich tones of the stained shingles sash. This arrangement allows an abundance of natural light to invade the bedroom fitted snugly under the rafters.

Shingle Siding is Effective This building illustrates the effectiveness of shingles as siding, for here the rich tones of the stained shingles give the dwelling a comfortable, homey atmosphere.

CAR OWNERS CARRY TROUBLES TO COURT

Smashup Results in One Man Paying Fine of $100 for Drunken Driving

EIGHT CARS DAMAGED
Youth Fights Reckless Driving Charge in Crash With Iowa Car

The situation of the week end series of automobile accidents in Brainerd stood as follows today:

One man charged with driving a car while under the influence of liquor was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or to serve 90 days in jail and was further prohibited from driving a car for 90 days.

A youth was being tried this afternoon in municipal court for alleged reckless driving which caused a smashup on the corner of Kingwood and Fifth streets.

A complaint was issued to a man for driving with one light which is alleged to have caused a smashup on highways No. 19 and 2 within the city limits of Brainerd.

One autoist was seeking payment for damages when another struck him from the rear.

Testimony in three of the cases was given by Police Officer Erick Graff.

John Erickson, Brainerd, was brought before Judge J. H. Warner in municipal court for alleged driving of a car while drunk. He was accused of driving his car west on the left side of Kingwood street and to have struck the new car owned by Arden Miller travelling east at the intersection of 16th street. Both cars were badly damaged. Erickson entered a plea of not guilty later changing his plea. He paid his fine of $100. The accident happened Sunday at 8 p. m.

Elmer Wendt, 20 year old Brainerd boy, was accused in municipal court this morning of striking the car of T. H. Stettler, Mason City, Ia., at the intersection of Kingwood and Fifth street at 6:30 p. m. yesterday. Arguments concerning speed of the Wendt car which was travelling west on Kingwood street were being continued this afternoon. Wendt having plead not guilty to reckless driving.

The Iowa car was being driven by Mrs. Stettler. She testified that she was travelling not over 15 miles an hour and was crossing Kingwood street on Fifth when the car struck her. Donald Erickson, a disinterested party, judged the Wendt car to be travelling at 30 miles an hour which Wendt denied claiming he was not exceeding the city speed limit.

Wendt said he had entered the intersection and that Mrs. Stettler struck him. Both cars were damaged.

Joseph Eide reported to police authorities that the car driven by Erick Murphy struck the rear of his car on 13th street near the N. P. shop fence. Murphy, who is 17 years old, told police that the car he was driving is owned by George Forsythe. Eide announced he would ask for damages from Forsythe and was undecided if he would make a complaint against Murphy in juvenile court.

Edward Willis of Minneapolis, was to be arraigned this afternoon on the charge of driving a car with one light on Highways No. 19 and 2. He is accused by Ernest Blair of Pequot of striking the car driven by his wife. The accident occurred a short distance beyond the N. P. tracks within the city limits.

WILL CONTINUE THIS WEEK

Evangelist V. R. Jackson Will Continue With Meetings at Full Gospel Assembly

Extra chairs had to be carried in to accommodate the crowd at the Full Gospel Assembly last night where an enjoyable half hour was spent singing songs and choruses and then Evangelist V. R. Jackson brought a message on the Soon Coming of the Lord Jesus. He stated we were now living in the end time, that prophecy was rapidly being fulfilled and that any moment we could expect the trump of God to sound and the Lord to descend from heaven to catch away the waiting church.

The services will continue each night throughout the week, tonight the evangelist will speak on "Water Baptism."

BURY TRAIL BLAZER TO ST. MATHIAS

Many Pay Last Respects to Frank Veillette, Pioneer Homesteader

FARMED THERE 45 YEARS

Travelled by Oxen From Brainerd; Accomplishment Paved Way for Others

The body of a man who broke earth 45 years ago with the aid of oxen in what is now known as St. Mathias township was laid to rest Saturday morning in the Catholic church cemetery in that township, Rev. Fr. Tertoggen officiating.

Frank Veillette, born in the province of Quebec, Canada, 71 years ago, passed away Friday afternoon at his farm home in St. Mathias township where he homesteaded 160 acres. His early settling in that section of Crow Wing county was accomplished with the use of oxen, that being the mode of travel over trails from Brainerd.

Besides his widow the deceased leaves four children, Mrs. Ray Festermaier, Eugene Veillette, St. Mathias; William of Minneapolis and Albert of Brainerd; also four step-children, Thomas Dubois, St. Mathias; George, Brainerd; Arthur of Butte, Mont.; and Mrs. Leo Barber of Minneapolis.

The funeral rites were largely attended. Mr. Veillette was a farmer well liked and respected by the entire community. His blazing the trail to establish a farm community in St. Mathias was the beginning of one of the greatest farm colonies in the county.

Mr. Veillette was partner with Fred Reid in logging operations for ten years starting in 1909.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORY OF TODAY

A dashing young "Romeo" and Police Officer Erick Graff formed a team for a gag last evening that is worth telling about.

"Hey, young fellow, use both hands" shouted Officer Graff. "Sorry, I can't. I'm driving," was the reply.

RETURNS FROM CONVENTION

R. E. Wyett Attended Fall Meeting of Managers at Saint Paul Hotel

R. E. Wyett, manager of the local J. C. Penney Co. store, arrived home yesterday from a week at the fall convention of the company held at the Saint Paul hotel in St. Paul.

In addition to the executives of the company, who presided at the general sessions and held individual conferences with the store managers, buyers for seven important merchandise divisions were present at the convention with full lines of merchandise, Mr. Wyett said.

"Plans for late fall and early winter business are the most comprehensive in the history of the business," Mr. Wyett reports.

"There are over 40 new J. C. Penney Co. stores in operation, bringing the total number to over 1400; many new sections of the country have been covered, and much remodeling of older stores has been done in the past several months.

"In all lines of merchandise, the showings made by the buyers revealed striking notes in style and quality. Plans for store advertising in local centers have taken into consideration the usual heavy increase in sales during the holiday periods and the necessity for keeping the advertising message of the store constantly before the buying public.

Gets His Fill of Apples, Peaches, Pears and Other Fruits and Wild Ducks

G. N. Grant, a retired machinist of the Northern Pacific railway company at Brainerd, has returned from an extended visit with friends in the west.

At Tacoma he met Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Dille who gave him a delightful trip up Mt. Ranier, where the flowers were still crowding the perpetual snow line.

At Portland he visited R. G. Vallentyne, at one time a real estate and insurance man of Brainerd. Mr. Vallentyne took him to his home and gave him a three-hour trip around the city, viewing its business, manufacturing and residential districts.

At Yakima, Wash., he visited H. T. Skinner who has a thirty-acre fruit farm. He is raising apples, peaches, pears, etc. The fruit was ripening on the trees and was in wonderfully fine shape. Four pickers just started on the apples, and more men will be added shortly. Mr. Skinner will market more than 10,000 boxes of apples this year. Mr. Grant was pined with fruit of all kinds and was given several wild duck dinners. Mr. Skinner being as successful in duck hunting as in raising apples and other fruits.

At Livingston, Mont., he met T. E. Jackson, George Halliday and others. At Glendive he saw the new 5,000-ton engine which has to be seen to realize what a powerful locomotive it is. He took supper with Mr. Fullerton, a machinist.

At Tacoma he met H. A. Lyddon, who gave him his job in the Brainerd shops.

Wherever Mr. Grant stopped he was eager to find a Brainerd Dispatch to read up on current events in the city and was more than pleased to find so many former Brainerd people taking the paper.

Blue Blood And Red

by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

EDDIE REGAN, once a member of a New York gang, has escaped to Virginia, where he meets and falls in love with Marian Thorndike. He forgets the "gang girl," Bernice Veressi, with whom he once fancied himself in love, in his dreams of Marian. Penfield Partridge, last member of an aristocratic Southern family whom Eddie befriends, dies and leaves Eddie all his possessions. Eddie declares his love to Marian, but she discourages him and tells him she expects to marry Tom Freeman. Eddie goes to call on Marian, and Freeman, who is already there, tells Eddie to get off the premises. Freeman tries to eject him bodily and a fight starts. Marian stops the fight and tells Freeman to leave. Eddie stays at the house, and in his love for Marian tells her of his past.

Now Go On with the Story

CHAPTER XXIV.

CLASS difference there was between them, but it could be shaken off. Already she had let down the bars; the same method that would win any other girl would win Marian Thorndike. She was above all others in purity and sweetness and mysteries of the spirit, but she was, in all human fundamentals, no different from the rest. She had preference and passions and the same age-old jealousies. In his soul, Eddie knew all these things absolutely true; yet she still over-awed him and he was as helpless as ever.

"Anything that happened to me before I met you is out of the picture forever," he spoke urgently. "I have seen a hundred girls and played around with them, but I didn't have an idea on earth what love was like until I first saw you. I was like a kid—everything was all new to me."

He did not offer to draw near her again, for fear she would mistake any attempted tenderness, now, for more desire of the flesh. The issue between them could not be settled with kisses.

"Besides, my father would never accept you," she remarked suddenly, turning and looking at him. "That's it," he admitted. "We could figure all that out later."

"If we happened to have been born far away from here under different circumstances things might have been different," she said. "Even if I did love you I couldn't be disloyal to my people. I couldn't break my father's heart."

Eddie realized the power of the objection, but he was instinctively aware that his love was strong enough to disregard any obstacles. But a sheltered, home-like girl like Marian might not be capable of his daring. He had everything to win and nothing to lose. With her, she stood to sacrifice everything.

"When I think of what you have been, I am all upset. You can't imagine how my folks would view that sort of thing and you—you could not go to my father and tell him everything about yourself. I might understand and overlook, but he wouldn't. He couldn't."

Her statement was impossible to refute. "None of it meant a thing on earth," was all he could repeat without force.

A swift touch of remorse for him, a tenderness of his hands and pressed it between her own two soft palms.

"I am terribly conscious-stricken," she said. "I had no right to lead you on."

The final truth between them, gave him the precarious feeling that his whole life was being weighed in some dangerous balance. Marian Thorndike could equal him in emotional intensity, but she had a cooler, more level head. It was doubtful if she would ever be swept off her feet.

"I don't blame you for being ashamed of me," he told her frankly. "When I think of you I could hang my head, when I remember what I've been through."

"Oh, I'm not ashamed of that at all myself," she replied indifferently. "You never had the right kind of chance in life, that's all. Almost any man brought up as you were would have passed through the same stages. But you wouldn't find other people—my

Very slowly Eddie Regan began to understand how great was the force of tradition that shackled Marian Thorndike. It was far stronger than he had supposed in the beginning. He had dragged himself up from a lower level where one man was as good as another and girls were wooed and won with as little restriction as the birds of the air felt in mating.

Marian, it was true, was, by herself, no different from those other girls—but to win her he had to fling against her home background and that background was as hard and firm against him as a stone wall. No matter how fiercely his hope burned, his common sense perceived that wall, and he comprehended fully that he was on one side and she on the other. He had only one talisman, one magic resource.

"Love," he told her, "ought to be above everything else. It's the only important thing there is on earth."

"I am afraid I made a great error," she told him frankly, yet with a repressed tenderness. "I saw all this coming and I did nothing to stop it. It is easy for you to say love should dare all—but you haven't my responsibilities."

With you a reckless headlong chance taking doesn't matter. Perhaps it wouldn't with me either—if I were truly in love. The difference between us, Eddie, is that you are in dead earnest and I am—well, you have an effect upon me."

This probing, this searching for folks, in particular—so tolerant down here; we are the most intolerant people on earth. Aristocracy is really more important than religion. But I might bring myself to disregard all that—if I loved you."

His heart was heavier than it had ever been before. Tormented by his own love, sensitive to the core, she sounded almost cold-blooded.

"All the same," he tried to insist, "there were a few times when you thought you loved me."

"I am trying to make it clear to you—and to myself," she went on. "I could give myself to you—too easily. That night when you kissed me I was under a spell, a physical spell. When I touch you something flows through me and I have to fight to keep from getting into a state that's not my real self. If I were a creature of the body only, I'd tell you take me, Eddie—all of me. But there's more than that to love. I think the other is just one phase of life; and because you appeal to me, there is no reason to suppose that everything else would be added unto us. Do you know what I mean?"

Sue Carol and Nick Stuart in "Girls Gone Wild," Fox Picture

Screenland's newest "team" of cinema players, Sue Carol and Nick Stuart, flashed into prominence with the first showing of "Girls Gone Wild," at the Lyceum this afternoon.

This pair of young screen players, the vivacious, piquant and charming Miss Carol, and handsome, magnetic Nick Stuart, often featured individually, work together perfectly. The story of "Girls Gone Wild," has to do with a gay, care-free young flapper, who thinks the world was invented just for her pleasure. She laughs at restraint of all kinds and flaunts the traffic laws until she bumps into a traffic cop who is unimpressed by her father's wealth and political power.
